to a successful issue. No body of men could have done better. "Did any of you ever dream that when you were making this fight for yourselves, you were also making it for the miners of western Pennsylvania, Indiana, and other sections where coal was being mined on the same basis? Subsequent events have proved that the issue of this contest affected wider fields, that when you fought and won for yourselves, you fought and won for the 50,000 miners in western Pennsylvania. As a result the United Mine Workers took a determined stand and unfolding position in favor of the establishment of the mine-run system universally, and the operators of western Pennsylvania finally yielded. Not only was this great reform agreed to, but many advances in wages, ranging from five to thirteen per cent, were secured at the same time.

"Figures for coal mining under the mine-run system in eastern Ohio this year will show that a larger tonnage has been produced than ever before. The amount of coal now being mined and shipped is limited only by the ability of operators to supply the demand. All this is most pleasing to the men, who, when the strike was on, were bitterly assailed as the enemies of business and the destroyers of the coal industry. To those who honestly opposed us we cherish no ill feeling or ill will."

Mr. Green referred to the Gallaher law which in effect repealed the mine run law, and continued:

"The United Mine Workers of America are going forward, improving the condition of its members—increasing wages, shortening the hours of employment, bringing to the homes and families of miners larger blessings and increasing happiness. Let us take courage and go forward. The things about which we complain can and will be corrected as time goes by. It is only through the efforts of our economic organization that we can secure for ourselves the rights to which we are entitled. In doing so we must go along the well ordered path of practicality and businesslike methods. We will succeed just in proportion as we pursue such a policy."

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA: A Proclamation. By the Governor. I, Henry D. Hatfield, Governor of the State of West Virginia, pursuant to the Constitution of the United States of America, and of the law of this State, do hereby issue this my proclamation, announcing to the voters of the State of West Virginia, that on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, an election will be had, held and conducted throughout the State of West Virginia, at the various voting precincts thereof, for the purpose of choosing eight electors of the President and Vice President of the United States.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Charleston, on the first day of September, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and of the State the fifty-fourth.

HENRY D. HATFIELD, Governor.
STUART F. REED, Secretary of State.

GERMAN CRUISERS AND THEIR CREWS MOVE FROM NORFOLK TO PHILADELPHIA; UNIQUE GERMAN VILLAGE FOLLOWS BUILDERS

Kronprinz Wilhelm being towed from Norfolk to Philadelphia; two American girls helping sailors of Kronprinz Wilhelm remove their pets from German village at Norfolk to interned cruiser.

The German crews of the interned cruisers Kronprinz Wilhelm and Prinz Eitel Friedrich transformed a dumping ground in the Norfolk navy yard into a sightly and thriving village, and when they were transferred with their vessels to the Philadelphia navy yard a few days ago they took the village with them. They didn't forget their pets, and two American girls are shown in the picture helping in the removal of a couple of small pigs which had become favorites with the colony.

SUB WARFARE

On the Old Basis Seems Certain to Be Resumed by the Germans.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Efforts to compose the differences between Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and his opponents in the Reichstag, which have been in progress since adjournment was taken after the chancellor's speech apparently have accomplished little. The chancellor's position, however, appears to be unshaken and such information as is obtainable indicates that the campaign for resumption of submarine warfare on the old basis has met with no success.

WOMEN IN DEBATE

Over Hughes and Wilson Embarrass the Latter in the City of Chicago.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—President Wilson paid a brief visit to Chicago Friday, enroute from Omaha to Long Branch, N. J.

An old-time "home interest" debate between women over politics was heard by the president Friday morning when his train stopped for a few minutes at Malta, Ill. Most of the women wore sun bonnets.

"I like you, but I'm going to vote for Hughes," said one woman to the president. Immediately all of the other women began a verbal onslaught on her.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself?" one woman said. "You know Wilson is the best man," declared another.

"Well, I'm going to vote for Wilson," said a third.

"Ladies, ladies," exclaimed the president. "It's very embarrassing to me to be present at this debate."

The body will arrive here tonight and will be taken to the Rone home on Water street, from where the funeral services will be held. The burial will be in the Masonic cemetery. Surviving relatives of the deceased man are Mrs. Mary A. Rone, his mother, and Bird and Mabel Rone, sisters.

MOVES AND COUNTER MOVES OF ARMIES IN THE BALKAN CAMPAIGN

A general view of the Balkan campaign is shown by the map above. A marks the point of the German counter thrust at the Roumanians, which, according to the German official reports, resulted in a decisive victory south of Hermannstadt, the Germans occupying Rothenburg Pass, at the point of the arrow. The shaded area shows the portions of Hungary and Transylvania occupied by the Roumanians.

The arrow B shows the direction of the Roumanian invasion of Bulgaria, and C the invasion of the Roumanian Dobruja by Field Marshal von Mackensen, to which the Roumanians attack appears to be the reply, threatening the German flank and rear. The heavy line marks the point reached by Field Marshal von Mackensen, and the shaded area the Roumanian territory he occupied.

Arrows D and E, on the Macedonian front, show the directions in which the Serbians and British, respectively, are striking out on the flanks of General Sarrajl's battle line, the approximate position of which is shown by the heavy black line.
